Golf as it's meant to be played.

You approach the tee, casually glance over your shoulder and spy no one but the rest of your foursome—three of your best friends—leaning against the cart, waiting to see what you will do to redeem your game after the last hole. All eyes are on you as you line up the ball, practice your swing.

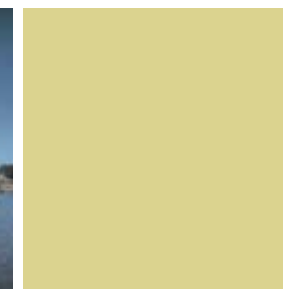

What will you do? Drive it up the middle? Make a splash in the water hazard? Dig a deeper hole for yourself in a sand trap?

No pressure. No need to rush. You've got plenty of time.

Because this is golf as it's meant to be played, in a relaxed and peaceful setting—without the next foursome breathing down your neck.

Welcome to the serenity of the Brunswick Islands, a championship golf destination where over 30 courses beckon you to play with siren songs of a perfect game. This isn't just any golf vacation.

Here you'll discover beautiful views and mild year-round temperatures, but relatively few golfers on challenging courses designed by golf legends Arnold Palmer, Rees Jones, Dan Maples and Tim Cate. Thanks to the Brunswick Islands' secluded, un-crowded location, you'll also find excellently maintained courses, the perfect tee time and a game that tests your skills, no matter what level.

Discover for yourself why the Brunswick Islands area is North Carolina's Golf Coast.

Thistle Golf Club offers one of the most beautiful and challenging 27-hole layouts in the Brunswick Islands and the Grand Strand. The course layout has a distinct Scottish links feel, with windswept fairways and large bentgrass greens.
Ranked 4½ Stars by Golf Digest for 8 years running.

Over 30 courses in one place— and room to plan each play.

North Carolina's Brunswick Islands are also known as North Carolina's Golf Coast—and for good reason! More than 30 courses next to the beaches of the Atlantic Ocean offer a variety of designs by world-renowned golf-course architects in a naturally beautiful setting. Whatever your skill level, you'll discover a course that fits your play to a tee, from designs featuring wider fairways and less-protected greens, to those with desert-sized sand traps and water hazards incorporating rivers and marshland, all with the added delight of easy tee times and, more often than not, open play both behind and in front of you. The lack of crowds provides perfect opportunities to take your time and plan your strategy for each shot, or play a fast game without waiting on other golfers. If you can think it, you can play it, here in NC's Brunswick Islands.

The Rees Jones Course at Sea Trail was one of the 2006 U.S. Open Qualifying Courses, and its recent renovations make it a favorite for guests and locals. Listed in Golf Digest's "50 Best Courses in Myrtle Beach" & "Top 100 Courses in North Carolina."

World-class golf— and so much more.

While golfers may want to deny the existence of such a concept as “too much golf,” the Brunswick Islands offer a natural beauty and a variety of activities that will entice you to step off the links and explore. Visit historic port towns, sleepy fishing villages or beach resorts. Climb a lighthouse, explore a historic fort or watch sea turtles hatch. Reel in tuna or an impressive marlin aboard an offshore fishing charter, or indulge in catch-of-the-day-fresh seafood—without casting a line—at renowned seafood restaurants. You’ll enjoy your meal any way you like it, grilled, blackened or Calabash style, a lightly breaded, fried preparation that has become synonymous with Southern seafood, invented right here in Calabash, North Carolina. You’ll find plenty of other dining choices as well, from steak and Italian, to Japanese and gourmet pizza and burgers.

Don’t forget that the sand in your golf vacation isn’t found only in those challenging traps! The Brunswick Islands are home to 40 miles of tranquil beaches, and the unique east-west orientation of the islands enables you to watch the sun both rise and set over the water. Whatever type of accommodations you choose—hotel or inn, condo or oceanfront cottage, golf villa or upscale resort—no doubt your trip to North Carolina’s Golf Coast will be just what you need to improve your game and your spirit. The islands and towns of the Brunswick Islands—Bald Head Island, Caswell Beach, Holden Beach, Oak Island, Ocean Isle Beach, Sunset Beach, Calabash, Leland, Shallotte and Southport—look forward to your visit.

Perfect placement for play.

Situated nearly equidistant between the historic city of Wilmington on the Cape Fear River and the vibrant entertainment of Myrtle Beach, North Carolina's Golf Coast places you right in the middle of activities and interests sure to make your golf vacation even more enjoyable in those brief times you are not on the course! An elegant dinner on the Wilmington waterfront, a tour of the Battleship North Carolina or the thrills of Myrtle Beach's headline performances are just a short drive away in either direction, placing North Carolina's Golf Coast truly at the center of it all.

The southernmost of North Carolina's magnificent chain barrier islands, Bald Head Island is home to 14 miles of beaches, a 10,000-acre salt marsh preserve, 18-hole golf course, two clubhouses, restaurants, and a full-service spa. This ferry-accessed community offers a wide range of accommodations and golf packages.
