A North Carolina Gem

The course at Maggie Valley Club highlights some of Western North Carolina's most spectacular scenery. This mature, 6,500-yard layout is surrounded by centennial trees and includes 30 acres of fairways leading to large bentgrass greens. A relatively level front nine allows players to warm up before tackling the significantly more challenging back nine, which features an elevation rise of 800 feet and stunning panoramas of the valley and beyond.

Adding to the allure of the mountain-style championship golf course are premium onsite amenities including a heated pool, hot tub, tennis courts, driving range, a short game practice area, walking trails, yoga and fitness room. Casual dining is available within the award-winning, 18,000 square-foot clubhouse. Enjoy the panoramic mountain views over light fare and refreshments on the Veranda or relax fireside in front of a big screen television as you relive your round with friends over appetizers and drinks in the Pin High Bar & Grille.

Outdoor Activities

Because of the area's temperate climate, guests may enjoy an array of outdoor activities in the surrounding areas including:

Whitewater Rafting

Hiking

Fly Fishing

Mountain Biking

Horseback Riding

Tennis

Arts, culture and dining are just minutes away in the charming town of Waynesville. Take in the Biltmore Estate which is a scenic 30 minute drive to the city of Asheville.
